11. Candidates cannot be allowed to change the place of examination named by them in their applications unless they are employed in the public service and application is made on their behalf before the 31st October next by the head of the office in which they are employed and it is also certified that the change is necessary in the interests of the public service. Candidates are accordingly warned to satisfy themselves before sending in their applications that they are eligible under the rules in force to be admitted to the tests for which they apply.

13. Any candidate who does not behave properly towards the Chief and Assistant Superintendents of the Examination or is suspected of having had recourse to malpractice of any kind is liable to have his examination invalidated and also to be debarred from appearing again for any of the examinations under the control of the Commissioner for such term of years as the Commissioner may think fit, or if the Commissioner is not satisfied for any reason whatever as to the trustworthiness of his results, he may be required to undergo a re-examination at some future date to be fixed by the Commissioner in any one or more of the subjects of the examination for which he appeared, his success or failure being determined on the results of such re-examination.

In submitting an application for admission to the examination the candidate will be deemed to have given an undertaking that he will abide by all the rules now in force or those to be brought into effect hereafter in respect of that examination including the following:—No revaluation of answer papers is permissible.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Public Analyst has reported that the Madras Prevention of Adulteration Act, 1918, is defective in certain respects and that it requires amendment if it is to be of practical effect. The object of this Bill is to remedy the defects pointed out by the Public Analyst and thereby to render the Act more useful. The necessity for each amendment is explained in the notes on clauses.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2.—The object of the amendment is to prevent the sale as milk of 'fore-milk', the first portion of the yield, as 'fore-milk' contains less than the essential quantity of fat.

'Cream' is referred to in the definition of 'butter,' 'cheese' and 'ghee' and it is therefore desirable that there should be a general definition of the word. The definition is taken from the English Public Health (Milk and Cream) Regulations, 1912, made under the Public Health Acts.

Clause 3 (i) (a).—This is consequential on the amendments proposed in clause 3 (ii).

Clause 3 (i) (b).—This is to make the clause to conform to the provisions of section 5 (1) (b) of the Act. The inclusion of 'ten' in this clause is consequential on the amendments proposed in clause 4 (i).

Clause 3 (i) (c).—Under section 20 of the Act and sub-section (1) (d) of section 5 as proposed to be amended by clause 3 (i) (b) the standard of purity of articles of food is to be prescribed by the "Local Government". The words "Governor in Council" should therefore be altered into "Local Government".

Clause 3 (ii).—This amendment is framed so as to include persons who 'store' articles of food for sale. The Bengal Food Adulteration Act has a similar provision. The amendment is necessary if the working of the Act is to be effective.

Clause 4 (i).—The existing Act does not enable the Government to fix standards of purity for tea. It is considered necessary to fix such standards in order to prevent the sale of tea, which is unfit for human consumption.

Clause 4 (ii), sub-clause (f).—The sale of watered milk as such cannot be prohibited under the existing Act. The sale of watered milk with or without notice has been totally prohibited in England. The prohibition of the addition of water to milk is essential in India where waterborne diseases are widely prevalent.

Sub-clauses (g) and (h).—Although rules can be made under section 20 (d) of the existing Act defining preparations made from full cream milk and skimmed milk, and prescribing labels in the case of skimmed milk products stating that such foods are unfit for babies, the provisions of the Act are not specific in this respect. It is, therefore, desirable that the Act should contain specific provision to regulate the sale of tioned milk. The addition of clauses (g) and (h) is intended for this purpose.

Sub-clause (i).—The addition of this clause is necessary to enable sample-takers to add preservatives to milk samples. If this is not permitted, there is a possibility, particularly in the case of samples sent from a distance, that the sample bottle may burst on route, or that on arrival at the Analyst's laboratory the sample may be in such a state of decomposition as to render an analysis impossible. Under the existing Act, a rule cannot be framed enabling sample-takers to add preservatives. If they do so without legal authority, the vendor might plead that the sample as analysed by the Public Analyst was not of the kind sold by him.

Clause 4 (iii).—This is consequential on the amendments proposed in clause 4 (ii).
